Katherine aka Kathy

Age: 19
Occupation: Student
Location: Glasgow

A day in the life…

Born and brought up in Greece, Kathy wasn't used to the cold weather in Glasgow. So, she began her day waking up at sunrise and heading straight to the bathroom to take a hot shower. Next, she would eat her cereal, put on her fur coat and head straight to the University. On a usual day, she would finish her lectures by lunch time and then she would either hang out with her friends or do recreational activities such as Zumba. She was a well-known Social media influencer on Instagram, on which she would post her skin care routine on a daily basis. Recently, she created a Youtube channel by the name of 'KathyReacts', where she would react to stand-up comedians or try challenges with her friends.

Interests and Hobbies

Kathy has a valiant personality in the sense that she is not afraid to try new things. That said, she enjoys adventure sports such as river rafting and skiing. She also loves to tune into pop music. Kathy is also a social butterfly, who loves to interact with new people. Dancing is another one of her passions, especially salsa, which she happened to learn at her grandmother's native town.

Influences

Fulfilling the dream of her mother to study in the same university as she did, Kathy now attends the University of Glasgow in the field of Veterinary Medicine. She is unsure if she wants to follow this subject or pursue something else, but still opted for it as it was fairly interesting.

Goals

Kathy wants to graduate with a first class degree at the University, but at the same time she wants to create memorable experiences as well. She leans towards becoming a full time YouTuber if it works out for her.

Challenges

One of the major challenges Kathy faces is to balance the time that she has for the university, herself and her family. She didn't pay much attention to cooking, and now that she is living in a hostel, she finds it difficult to arrange for meals and often ends up spending a lot of money on buying food.
